

Fawn's Song

I don't belong though I have been here since I was born
I've found no other place to call my own
I put my hands to work at the daily things of life
And I've tried to hide my fears beneath their scorn

But questions fill my mind most every day
I want to know the answers to all the world around me
I want to find what's there before I'm old and grey
I want to see it with your loving arms around me

So won't you Take me in your arms I'll lay my head against your heart
Forget about the worries of the day
You've taken all their thoughtless words and made them fade away
And with your love you set me free to fly

Bridge

You had my heart at once for the warmth of your Embrace
And your quiet smile brought gladness to my eyes
If you should want have me I'd find no better place
Than to be here never straying from your side

So won't you
Take me in your arms I'll lay my head against your
heart
Forget about the worries of the day
You've taken all their thoughtless words and made
them fade away
And with your love you set me free to fly

I search for information to fill the emptiness
My ignorance is wide and painfully plain
The narrow box of my confinement is poorly framed and bent
And I'm reaching through the cracks despite the pain.

So won't you
Take me in your arms I'll lay my head against your
heart
Forget about the worries of the day
You've taken all their thoughtless words and made
them fade away
And with your love you set me free to fly

I'm not a fool, I know that the fates will bring a day

When your obligations take you far from me
Don't take your worries with you to darken sunny days
Because you've given my wings strength to set me free

I'm just a small town girl. I don't know a lot they say
But I know that you will be back again tomorrow
There's plenty here to fill my hands and while the time away
And a little time won't bring me any sorrow

So let me Take you in my arms and lay your head against my heart
Forget about the worries of the day
I'll take away their thoughtless words and make them fade away
And with my love I'll set you free--and with my love I'll Fmaj7 G
set you free,
and with my love I'll give you wings, to fly
C
And we'll be fine
